Saathi is Hindi for "companion" and we believe caregivers of terminally ill patients need a friend who understands, supports and is there for them as they walk along the difficult path of supporting their loved ones. Caregiver Saathi™ is an endeavour to acknowledge and support Caregivers of patients with terminal illness or chronic conditions, so that together we can improve the quality of their lives, their well-being and those that they care for. There are many ways in which a caregiver is challenged and often the caregiver also needs care, emotional support, understanding, easy access to information, guidance from experts and wisdom from others who have similar experiences. It is our endeavour to bring it all together and make it easy access for the caregiver.

Children's Hospice. The Marion and Elie Wiesel Children's Pavilion is the newest addition to the Pediatric Hemato-Oncology department. It is the only Pediatric Hospice in Israel. We offer a unique integrated service of palliative home care for terminally ill children to improve the quality of life of the children and their families. A Pediatric Palliative home care nurse provides this service and specializes in pain control particularly in the terminal phase of disease. Family Therapy is provided by a social worker, a psychologist and a Pediatric Hemato-Oncologist. The palliative home care nurse coordinates treatment between all services at the hospital and the community.

At the victory hospital, we established a "palliative care ward (20 bed)" to support patients with cancer. This is because hospitals that can respond to cancer patients are few in the northernmost part of Okinawa Prefecture, so we were able to accept acceptance in accordance with the establishment of a new hospital. We believe that we are aiming for reliable medicine rooted in the community, which is the hospital philosophy of the victory hospital.

Dover Park Hospice (<https://hospicecare.com/global-directory-of-providers-organizations/listings/details/188/>) Singapore, Singapore
Dover Park Hospice was founded in 1992 as a secular, nonprofit organisation to meet the growing need in Singapore for hospice care for terminally-ill patients. It is Singapore's first purpose-built hospice, designed to provide a serene environment close to nature. We adopt a holistic approach to total patient care, with attention not just to their physical needs, but also their social and psychological ones. Our patients have advanced incurable illnesses and are often troubled by symptoms such as breathlessness or nausea. Hence the control of pain and other symptoms is a priority. Equally important is psychosocial care, whether in the form of financial assistance, social activities or formal counselling. Family and friends are included in our circle of care which extends to bereavement support.

Since 1983, AIDS Calgary has helped people learn about, prevent and live with HIV/AIDS. The face of HIV/AIDS has changed since we first responded to the emerging AIDS crisis within Calgary gay community. Today, women are two to four times more vulnerable to HIV infection, youth has one of the fastest rising infection rates, and aboriginal people are five times more likely to have AIDS than any other Canadian. Through our range of programs and services, we help those at risk make healthy choices and reduce the harm associated with HIV and AIDS. We also provide referrals to other service providers, and are actively involved in local, provincial, national and international organizations that are also addressing the issues surrounding HIV/AIDS. By working together, we can create a caring and compassionate society that is more informed about HIV/AIDS care and more open to helping those who live with it.

Palliative Care of South Carolina (<https://hospicecare.com/global-directory-of-providers-organizations/listings/details/617/>) United States of America, South Carolina, Spartanburg Palliative Care of South Carolina was created to provide specialized medical care for people with serious illness. Our goal is to improve the quality of life for both the patient and the family. We focus on providing relief from the symptoms and stress of advance illness by providing a team of specialists that work alongside the patient's physicians. With palliative care, patients will receive physical, emotional and spiritual support. The team helps to relieve pain and symptoms- such as fatigue, anxiety, shortness of breath, nausea, and depression. They also will help the patient decide the next steps; the plan and goals of care. Palliative Care of South Carolina is here to help at any stage of serious illness, regardless of age or diagnosis.
